Abstract: From the first days of his presidency, President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Shavkat Mirziyoyev has been paying special attention to the training of innovative and creative, modern personnel, educating young people in the spirit of patriotism and high spirituality, and improving the education system. In this regard, the President said in a video conference on August 23, reflecting on the ongoing reforms in the country to reform the school education system, the current tasks ahead, in this regard, the great enlightened ancestor Mahmudhoja Behbudi's "Buildings of the World. It is the greatest school in the world," he said. Indeed, if we look at the history of the developed countries of the world, we see that the reforms aimed at changing the life of society in them began with the education system, kindergartens, schools, upbringing. Because you can't change a person, a society, without changing the school. The basis of education and upbringing is the school. And the driving force behind the school is the teachers. The President has adopted 6 decrees and resolutions on the public education system, 21 resolutions of the Cabinet of Ministers, and strengthened the legal and regulatory framework for reforms in this area. The 11-year school education system has been restored in our country, taking into account the wishes of parents and the public. In the last three years, 157 secondary schools have been built in the country. Our great scholars - Mirzo Ulugbek and Muhammad Khorezmi Gifted Children's Schools, Hamid Olimjon and Zulfiya, Erkin Vahidov, Abdulla Aripov, Ibrayim Yusupov, Ishakhon Ibrat, Muhammad Yusuf, Halima Khudoiberdieva Creative Schools, "Temurbek School", President The establishment of new and modern educational institutions, such as schools and private schools, opens up new opportunities for education for the youth of Uzbekistan. A lot of work is being done to encourage the work of teachers. In the last 3 years, teachers' salaries have increased 2.5 times on average. Specific criteria have been set to encourage teachers to work in remote areas. They are paid up to 50% extra. This has attracted more than a thousand teachers who are in short supply in remote areas. Teachers who continue to work at retirement age receive a full pension.

1. INTRODUCTION

"Dear teachers, passionate school principals and veterans of the industry, we consider our people to be the backbone and support of our country," the President said. "We will continue to invest in the development of the school system." The fate of our future generation, the fate of our entire nation, people and state depends on respected teachers. School is a matter of life and death, a matter of the future. It cannot be solved by the state, the government or the governors. This should be the duty of the whole society, "Shavkat Mirziyoyev said.

In accordance with the decree of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan dated April 29 this year, the concept of development of the public education system until 2030 was approved. It sets out clear mechanisms for achieving the 48 targets.

For example, by 2030, Uzbekistan is expected to be among the top 30 countries in the world in the ranking of the international student assessment program PISA.

The head of our state paid special attention to raising the status and prestige of teachers, expanding their rights and privileges.

"If we do not provide financial incentives to school teachers, if we do not improve their quality of life, we will not be able to talk about reforms and results," said the President.

"A teacher should be a teacher not only in school, but also in life." This opinion was expressed by the People's Teacher of Uzbekistan Bahodir Rozikov, who told the truth of life. As the child steps on the threshold of the school, he leans on the teacher's lap. When he enters the classroom, he is as if he has fallen into another world. He accepts a maximum of 30 children in one class as his own children and raises their masculinity and whims. From holding a pen to learning to read a book, you don't have to worry at night if you have to. In ancient times, our ancestors bowed at the entrance to the school classroom. Mullm was handed the child, saying, "The flesh is yours, the bone is ours." The teacher is an example to people, leaving light on the way, and teaches something to others without knowing it. He wholeheartedly helps the person who asks for help. He strokes the head of his student as a child, and if he makes a mistake, he beats him. Teaches what he knows. He does not appreciate the work he has done. Even when some students are disrespectful to the teacher, they just smile at him.

Today there is a wide range of opportunities for teachers. Not only young staff, but all teachers are using these opportunities effectively and efficiently to educate students. The teacher loves his profession and works selflessly. I was convinced by the words of Rano-opa Suleymanova, the principal of school No. 5 in Gulistan, Syrdarya region, one of such professionals, about her love for the profession.

Ra'no Suleymanova's intelligence, rich worldview, all-round initiative, active participation in lessons, special respect for teachers, love of work and hard work and reading at school are the main reasons for her success in school. `separated from the birds. Sister Rano recalled her childhood: "My mother was a seamstress, so they wanted me to be a seamstress. Because I was an excellent student at school, my favorite class teacher, Muborak opa Usmonova, came to our mother and said to my mother: "Your daughter is one of the best students in the school, I do not want such an excellent student to become an ordinary seamstress. This student must have a university degree. You have to teach your daughter." But I dreamed of becoming an art critic or an architect in the future. After graduating from the 10th grade, I went to the Institute of Theater and Art, but one day I was late for paperwork. As luck would have it, my classmates and I applied to the Syrdarya State Pedagogical Institute in the field of literature, and I was accepted in the first year. In order to graduate, I prepared my dissertation on the work of Said Ahmad, and I liked this dissertation and was offered to expand my dissertation to the level of scientific work. Then Sayid aka came to my graduation. After graduating from the university, my teachers sent me as a teacher of language and literature to the 9th school in our city, one of the most advanced schools of that time, and I started my first activity in this school. I did not take direct lessons from the school principal Sharifa opa Kadyrovna, but I learned a lot in their school of life. When I worked at this school for two months, my university teachers came and offered to take our graduate to the university to work in the Department of Literature, but the director of our school did not send me, so I stayed at this school. After working for 7 years in the 9th school, I worked as a Methodist in the city Public Education, then as the head of the methodical cabinet, then as the head of the educational work. During my career, I was sent to manage this school due to the slowdown of the 5th school in the city and started working as a Principal at this school. For my humble work, I was awarded the 2008 Public Education Excellence Award by the Ministry of Public Education.

I have been working for 11 years and I can say that working with my team, we have become one of the best schools in the region. Even though I am a director now, I do not say that I am a director, I work on myself, I strive for innovation, including. In 2013, I passed the retraining department of Digapathology, Lagapetia department of Tashkent State University named after Nizami. The reason why I went through this direction is that psychology and lagapetia are one of my favorite fields. I am still working as a psychologist. Because I face a lot of events in my career. Working as a school principal meant working as a psychologist. Only a psychologist can be a leader.

A person should take a good view of criticism throughout his life, I personally have a positive attitude to criticism, because every criticism develops a person, no matter what kind of criticism it is, I also react to criticism, but I do not like this criticism. I will draw the right conclusion.

I hate lies. When I lie to get out of a situation, I will definitely get caught. I know that the person who tried to deceive me is deceiving me by his actions, but I do not say that you are deceiving me. I feel and let go of my conscience.

My biggest goal as a child was to do well in school. After a good study, all your dreams will come true. When does a person become strong? he becomes strong only when he knows his field well. Being a strong person is a step towards achieving one's dreams.

I am very forgiving in life. There are times when you have to deal with ignorant people. You know that a person who doesn't understand you, that your worldview is unequal, that his spirituality is not up to that level, it makes you nervous, he doesn't believe in you, but I still forgive him. From the outside, many people know me as a very strict leader, but it is difficult for one person to have both a strong hand and kindness. But I am kind to my staff and students, and at the same time I am firm. "

When they love their profession so much, they rarely spend time with themselves. In any case, Ra'no Suleymanova is attentive to her subordinates, teachers and students, and differs from other leaders in that she does not despair of the person who asks for help, she helps as much as she can. When they found free time, they took books and read. But in the morning they did not neglect physical training. At the same time, one of our teacher's favorite hobbies is driving.

Teachers like Ra'no Suleymanova, many of them, their actions are an example for us young people, and in the future they will certainly become stronger. Their motto in their lives is: "Bend to the bent, stretch to the stretched." It is true that our teachers do not respond to criticism, their humble nature, first thinking and then fighting for something, is an example not only for the school community, but also for students.

In conclusion, it should be noted that the selfless work of so-called teachers and coaches plays an important role in the development and prosperity of any society. It is not enough to pay all the respect and attention to these professionals, who have taken on the responsible task of educating young people and educating them in the spirit of love for the Motherland. Thanks to their hard work, children, athletes and leading specialists in various spheres of society are being introduced to our country. Due to their efforts, the prestige of the so-called independent states of Uzbekistan is growing day by day.
