1. INTRODUCTION

2012 was a period of significant change in the further study of English. Exactly, On 10 December 2012 President of Uzbekistan Islam Karimov signed a resolution ‘ On Measured on further improving system of studying foreign language ‘. The aim of this document was to improve teaching foreign languages preparing more specialists which have good language skills, introducing modern and advanced technologies into education system . Since that time English language has been taught in all primary education as well as in preschool education. Of course, There is a reason for this. The study of the languages of economically ,scientifically,culturally and politically developed countries is a key factor in the achievement of world science and development.

2. Main Body

In turn , Language learning depends on the age. According to psychologists ,children of kindergarten age learn mechanically,not by understanding the meaning of the information. If we study the characteristics of children of kindergarten age at their age, We can see that It is more effective to teach a lesson in the form of interactive games, through unconventional,modern methods. Because They are addicted to the game and therefore, quickly get bored of the same lessons. In teaching , kindergarten children they gain more understanding by completing a new topic or task in a practical, physical way. In a word of Confucius:

I hear and I forget, I see and believe, I do and understand.

Here are some useful and effective methods that helps teach children :

- Teaching through conversations. Conversations are the most useful ways of teaching the language. Like all the children ,we were`nt also taught our mother tongue when we were very young. Conversation took place people around us and by listening to the conversations made by others. For instance, we can organize such kind of lessons as a pairwork,or groupwork;

- Teaching through games. Games may be physical or mental. But It should be more interesting and related to the topic. Its effectiveness depends on how to use sensibly. As example, we can say Bingo, Hot potato , Chain game, Please,give/show me, Point to...., Claster, colorful handouts, puzzles crosswords, worksheets, placards made by teachers;

- Teaching through multimedia tools. Multimedia is the combination of various digital media types such as images ,audio, video, presentation ,multi-sensory application .By using these multimedia tools ,we can create multimedia projects , like cartoons, animated videos, graphics, funny songs. Teaching young children through such kind of modern multimedia tools is very exciting, challenging. These are some of the innovative and creative ways of teaching English language;

- Teaching through practical ways. Training with varied activities ,such as drawing, dancing, movement , drama, modelling, listening to stories, watching cartoons seems natural to the child. Furthermore, they improve children`s interactions with others;

- Create English environment. Just like adults , preschool children age children are affected by their environment. But they can`t express these feelings to us. Good teachers ensure classrooms and learning spaces for children and make them feel welcome, ready to learn ,create English environment. However, Creating learning environment requires time , thinking ,and planning.It plays a major role in helping children develop and learn. English environment is well organized, orderly planned, safe, children feel free and English atmosphere, provided with modern and multimedia tools decorated with colorful , attractive pictures;

- Bring new ideas . We know kids are curious .They quickly get bored of the monotony. Therefore, They shouldn`t always be taught idol-type methods,but change such methods. Otherwise, Children will be able to understand and prepare in advance what teaching methods teachers will use. Teaching by updating methods increases children`s aspirations;

- Teaching English connecting with the world and nature. There are a variety of subjects ,with many colorful pictures and a lot of vocabulary and sentences which are very useful in daily life. For example, there are pictures of different kind of animals in textbooks. When the teacher talks about the animals, he or she teaches the name of the animals first, the place where the animals live, then foods the animals like to eat, and so on.

- Teaching English vocabulary through context.

It is also helpful for young learners to teach English vocabulary through context. In English lessons, many teaching aids are used. They include books for vocabulary, books for phonics, conversation books, workbooks for matching.

Comprehensible input.

Comprehensible input is very essential to teach language. English language is a second language to all of us. Young children need to have comprehensible input before they can communicate in a second language. Based on scientists' opinions, I can say that in order to give sufficient input to young children English lessons must be taught in English lessons. If English teachers utilize many kinds of teaching aids, gestures, and body language, their input might be comprehensible. A number of researchers inform that there are lots of excellent sources of comprehensible input such as tape recorder, video, written materials, textbooks, visual aids like pictures, flash cards, real objects, models and so forth.

Involve young children in creating resources that support their learning. Young learners tend to draw pictures of the characters that they watch on TV or create anything that saw in pictured books. They can colour pictures of items and characters from stories. As a good teacher, if you motivate them, they will find pictures in magazines, related to a theme or topic in a lesson and bring them to class. The most important thing is that teachers should motivate and support them based on their attempt for the first time.

3. Conclusion

In conclusion, language teaching to young children should be conducted as a fun activity rather than as a compulsory one. Passing lessons using several effective methods can serve as a foundation for their future knowledge. There is a growing interest in the use of interactive methods, innovative technologies in the educational process. The effectiveness of lessons depends on the degree to which teachers are able to engage children and direct them to learning. The more innovative methods are used in the classroom, the better the image and quality of education are improved. They satisfy the interest and need for learning in learners. Training of specialists in line with modern requirements is one of the priorities for teachers.
