Abstract: In the regions, especially in rural areas, the majority of the population lives in poverty, while in other countries, such as India and Africa, the situation is much worse. I mentioned them in the article. After all, there is movement at the heart of any ascent!

Keywords: Poverty, Asia, Africa, Rural Areas, Entrepreneurship, Labor.

1. Introduction

Every poor person has an excuse to justify himself.

It is no secret that in the regions, especially in rural areas, the majority of the population does not have a sufficient source of income. As in any country, we have low-income groups. According to various estimates, they make up about 12-15 percent. We are not talking about small numbers, but about 4-5 million people.

If you ask a poor person, "Why can't you live a prosperous life?", He will find a good answer to your question. Every poor person has an excuse to justify himself. Someone says, "That's my destiny, I'm not lucky!" Someone else is ruining the situation in the country. The third says he has no desire to be rich. Someone blames their parents, says they didn't give me a good education. Many complain about the inaccuracy of the education provided in the school. After all, they don't teach you how to make money there!

2. The main part.

A story my grandfather told me.

It was at this point that I remembered a story I had heard from my grandfather when I was young.

One day a poor man came to our Prophet (saas) asking for alms. The person who entered through the door of our Prophet (saas) never returned dissatisfied. The Prophet (peace and blessings of Allaah be upon him) said to him, "Why are you poor?"

The poor man said, "I grew up poor from a young age."

- Who do you live with?
- I live alone.
- What profession do you know?
- I do not know any profession, I live on charity.

- What do you have in the house?

-One bowl and a bucket.

The Prophet (peace and blessings of Allaah be upon him) said: Bring that bucket and your bowl.

The poor brought.

The Prophet (peace and blessings of Allaah be upon him) sold them for 1 to 2 rupees each and bought an ax for the money.

He gave it to the poor man and sent him up the hill to make wood. Fifteen days later, the poor man ran to the market and sold the collected firewood, collecting 15 sums. He came to our Prophet (saas) rejoicing. The Prophet (peace and blessings of Allaah be upon him) said: "Did you see that you got rid of poverty through your work. You achieved happiness through your work. Now continue in this profession, marry a good girl and live well!" The man was overjoyed and thanked the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allaah be upon him) and left.

Poverty is a complex problem. Man has had the notion of rich and poor since he was created. If someone finds it difficult to find a loaf of bread out of poverty, someone will not find a place to put his wealth.

Where is Poverty Day going today? The fight against poverty is recognized by the UN as the most pressing problem in the world. This problem is one of the most pressing in Asia, where about two-thirds of the world's population lives. The vast majority of the world's helpless people are from the Asian continent, and about half of them live in South Asia.

Where do almost half of the world's poor live?

Almost half of the world's poor live in Africa. In a world where the number of people on the brink of starvation is close to 1 billion, one in nine people do not have enough food to survive.

Shiagi Sifa, head of the Africa branch of the International Union of Cooperatives, said 41% of the world's poor are African.

How are the people living in India?

If India's population exceeds one billion, more than 300,000 are said to be living in poverty. Today, about 3/1 of India's population lives in poverty, while most of them live in rural areas. That is, one in three of the rural population suffers from chronic poverty. Water shortages and droughts have made it difficult for them to make ends meet. In India, most families live in poverty, with men earning a living on the three or four pennies they earn by driving a rickshaw or taking a bath. Wives, on the other hand, often clean someone else's house, cook, and then help their husbands a little. The interlocking low-rise huts in the ruins were rebuilt of straw or hand-built of various woods. "Our lives are very hard. I worked as a maid and a cook to feed my children. We only get warm once a day. We can't save a penny. The money we earn goes as we earn it!" This is the life of millions of poor people in India. Modern technology has not entered rural areas. Unemployment is very high. The internal environment is extremely tense. The Indian government is now focusing on small business projects that could make the lives of the poor a little easier.

As we get acquainted with the life of other nations, it is impossible not to be grateful for the peace of our country, the opportunities created in the field of entrepreneurship to overcome the wide-ranging changes and poverty. True, we also have a level of poverty. How do we find a solution to this? For this purpose, a new system for the development of small business and entrepreneurship has been introduced in our country. Small business and private entrepreneurship are an important factor in developing the economy, increasing employment and income. Over the past two and a half years, more than 50 decrees and resolutions of the President have been adopted to provide comprehensive support to the representatives of this sphere. In order to develop entrepreneurship, banks have provided low-interest loans to the population. Credit for the development of family business is based on the personal work of the couple and the work of family members who support them. Microcredits are provided to family businesses for the following purposes.

- purchase of livestock, poultry, fodder, mineral fertilizers, seeds and seedlings;
- cultivation of agricultural products, construction and repair of greenhouses;
- organization of handicraft activities, production of folk handicrafts and applied arts;

- other purposes directly related to the production of consumer goods and the organization of consumer services.

In rural areas, rabbit breeding is becoming one of the most lucrative industries. The meat and skin are in demand, easy to feed and ideal for those who want to engage. The interest of the business community in this lucrative industry has also increased. Favorable climatic conditions, sufficient natural land allow the development of rabbit breeding.

3. Conclusion.

Through labor and knowledge man attains happiness, is freed from poverty.

Through labor and knowledge, man attains happiness. Have you heard of Najjad Vallo-Belkasem, the daughter of a poor shepherd family? A graduate of the Paris Institute for Political Studies, Najjad is currently the French Minister of Education. The life of this girl reveals to us a fact that it is not a sin for me to be born poor, but to live in poverty and to be poor in the world. Today, our country is carrying out reforms to reduce poverty. One thing we need to know is that the only way out of poverty is science.
